

NEW improved model BeechBand

Exciting news! BeechBand are launching their new BeechBand (100D) in the UK on 10th November 2025. They have listened to users comments and have developed this upgraded model with a quieter motor, featuring LED charging lights, and comes with a redesigned buckle- free strap. Future models plan to address battery life, though a specific new model with a significantly longer battery life is not yet available. It will be priced at £54.50 plus postage and packing. It should be noted that pre-orders or waiting lists are not available but it can be purchased on launch day.
